

README for the Reproducibility Package for Moving beyond time poverty: Measuring women's and men's time-use agency

Overview

This document provides instructions for replicating the analysis presented in the paper “Moving beyond time poverty: Measuring women's and men's time-use agency” using the reproducibility package. The package includes all necessary datasets and Stata code files to replicate the figures and results presented in the manuscript, with the primary goal of promoting transparency and easy access to all steps of the analysis.

Instructions for Replicators

The file MASTER.do in the "Codes" folder provides the sequence of programs to replicate the numbers in each of the tables, as well as the figures.

Open the MASTER.do, change the path at the top level directory, and run the code.

Computational Requirements and Runtime

Running the full set of scripts should take approximately five minutes to complete.

Software Requirements
